ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Mr. Andrew K. Asamoah, Executive Chairman of A&C Development Co. Ltd, Accra and also a former Director of World Health Organisation's support to SHAPE Attitude Ghana is immeasurable. We thank him for his support. We would like to thank Ms. Angela Karmand, Ms. Anne Buckley and Mr. Emmanuel Woode who have provided almost all the direct external funding and sixty per cent of the total funding received from 2015 to 2017.

We thank the former Director of Ghana Education Service, Effutu Municipality, Mrs. Hilda Eghan, for her collaboration. Our thanks also go to the Effutu Municipal assembly for granting free permit to mount bill boards in Winneba town.

We acknowledge with appreciation the contribution of Radio Peace Winneba, thanks to Madam Esther Ama Nyarkoa who championed the sensitisation campaign on Radio Peace. We thank Ms Anna Obir-Bonney, a Health Promotion Officer who has also been active in the campaign.

Our thanks go to Prof. Kolawole Raheem, of the Centre for School and Community Science and Technology Studies of the University of Education, Winneba (SACOST-UEW) for his continued advocacy, technical advice and linkages. We thank the following also for their diverse contribution: Dr David Essaw, a senior research fellow and water and sanitation specialist at the Institute for Development Studies, University of Cape Coast; Mr Amofa Appiah and the staff of Department of Social Welfare Office, Cape Coast.

Special thanks go to Ms. Joana Eshun of Gracelove Creations for her financial and material support over the years. We would like to mention her support and participation during the celebration of the third anniversary of SHAPE Attitude Ghana and the event marking the World Environment Day.

The preparation of our accounts for auditing would not have been completed without the support of Utmost Consult. Our thanks go to them and for also facilitating the auditing of the accounts and submission of returns to the Registrar General's Department. Their financial support and that of B. Omane-Antwi Consult is much appreciated.

We would like to register our appreciation to those who have exhibited the true sense of voluntarism in assisting SHAPE Attitude Project in disseminating the sensitisation message especially, Mr. Lord Nelson Addo Ofori, Mr. Eric Sekyere Appiah, Mr. Kennedy Aboagye and Mr. Amos Amamoo all of University of Education, Winneba and Mrs. Victoria Amissah Ghartey for her logistic and moral support.

Finally, SHAPE Attitude Ghana would like to thank all its well-wishers, individuals and organisations, who have contributed to the project in any way.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

SHAPE Attitude Ghana is committed to enabling communities develop a culture of keeping their surroundings clean all the time and has targeted children from age four in kindergarten through to Junior Secondary School and churches.

Lack of resources have not permitted studies to be carried out to assess the impact of the project's activities. However, there are indicators which point to the fact that the project is impacting on attitudes of some school pupils. Overall cleanliness on major streets of Winneba town has improved as well as collection of waste to central disposal sites.

The Effutu Educational Directorate, SACOST of the University of Education, Winneba and the College of Community Health Nursing have collaborated with SHAPE Attitude Ghana in carrying out sensitisation messages to pupils and students.

There was a general feeling among the public that education or sensitisation was good but it was about time sanitation laws were enforced to cement attitudinal change. SHAPE Attitude Ghana has taken action by submitting a proposal to the Municipal Assembly on the way forward.

Environmental clubs, called Zoomkids, were launched in Winneba at a durbar of the World Environmental Day in June 2017 by Zoomlion Foundation upon invitation of SHAPE Attitude Ghana and the Centre for School and Community Science and Technology Studies (SACOST)

Radio Peace FM station in Winneba has been a very strong advocate of educational and sensitisation messages on sanitation to the public. The Radio's intervention contributed to some of the gains achieved on sanitation in Winneba.

Within the same year, the Organisation's accounts for 2015 and 2016 were audited and annual returns submitted to Registrar General's Department.

Lack of adequate financial resources still remains a challenge to the Organisation. Notwithstanding this challenge, the Organisation managed to implement activities such as observing the World Environmental Day, marking the third anniversary of SHAPE Attitude Ghana and visiting the schools to give sensitisation talks. A significant activity undertaken was mounting of bill boards in Winneba town with educational messages on indiscriminate littering, open defaecation and protecting the environment.

A one room office for the organisation was rented and furnished in the last quarter of 2017.

It is expected that the project will have at least two full time personnel from the National Service Secretariat at post to help in scaling up our activities. Apart from the schools and churches, a house to house campaign will be embarked upon.

SHAPE ATTITUDE GHANA

2017 ANNUAL REPORT

1. Introduction

SHAPE Attitude Ghana marked its third anniversary in June 2017 and by end December 2017, it had operated for three years and six months. This is the third annual report covering the period from January to December 2017 to present the status of implementation of activities, finances, challenges and future perspectives.

SHAPE Attitude Ghana is committed to enabling communities develop a culture of keeping their surroundings clean all the time. The specific objectives are to: promote change in attitude for clean environment; develop a sustained habit of maintaining good sanitary conditions; build a mindset of clean environment; and contribute to reduction in incidence of diseases related to dirty environment.

The primary target group is children from the age of four in kindergarten through to Junior Secondary School and churches. The “catch them young” approach is being adopted.

Although studies are yet to be carried out to assess the impact of the project activities, there are indicators which point to the fact that the project is impacting on the attitude of some school pupils and the overall cleanliness on the major streets of Winneba town. Call in programmes to Radio Peace where the callers talk about children questioning parents and hawkers about indiscriminate littering and citing of SHAPE Attitude’s message is an example. Littering in schools have dropped considerably.

2. Audited accounts and renewal of licences

The 2015 and 2016 accounts were audited by B Omane-Antwi Consult, Chartered Accountants and the annual returns for 2015 and 2016 submitted to the Registrar General General’s Department in 2017. A penalty was paid for delay in submitting the 2015 and 2016 returns.

The NGO licence was renewed timely with the Department of Social Welfare at the beginning of 2017.

3. Implementation of sensitisation and awareness activities

The major activities carried out were celebration of the third anniversary of SHAPE Attitude Ghana and the World Environment Day, mounting of bill boards with messages on littering, open defecation and sanitation in general, a talk at the University of Education Winneba and the College of Community Health Nursing and the usual visits to schools.

3.1. Third anniversary of SHAPE Attitude Ghana and the World Environment Day (WED)

SHAPE Attitude Ghana celebrated its third anniversary in June 2017 alongside the event marking the World Environment Day organised by SACOST. The activities organised to mark these two events were a parade of school pupils, inauguration of Zoomkids Clubs by Zoomlion Foundation and a grand durbar. Stakeholders including community leaders, representative of the Vice Chancellor of University of Education, Winneba, the Municipal Chief Executive of the Effutu Municipality, Chief Executives of Organisations associated with the environment and representative of A&C Development Company, a strong supporter of SHAPE Attitude Ghana based in Accra, were in attendance. Also in attendance was Gracelove Creations students, a fashion design school. The proprietor of the school provided material support for the event and physically participated in the events.

3.2. Mounting of bill boards

Four bill boards, out of the twelve planned, with messages on littering and open defecation were mounted at vantage points in Winneba in the last quarter of 2017. The Effutu Municipal Assembly did well by approving twelve locations for the bill boards and waived the permit fee.

3.3. Talk at the University of Education, Winneba and College of Community Health Nursing

The University of Education, Winneba, invited SHAPE Attitude Ghana to give sensitisation talks to freshers at its annual orientation programme for first year undergraduate and graduate students for the 2017/2018 academic year. The same talk was given to first year students of the College of Community Health Nursing at the invitation of the College.

3.4. Basic schools' activities

Sensitisation in basic schools continued in eighteen schools of which two, Baptist Academy and PAMO International Preparatory School, were the first time that SHAPE Attitude Ghana visited during the year under reporting. SHAPE Attitude Ghana attended the speech day of PAMO Preparatory and graduation ceremony of Baptist Academy where the message of clean environment was delivered to the pupils.

The first SHAPE ambassadors were formed at the PAMO Preparatory School at Jukwa.

3.5. Facilitating community participation in children's well being

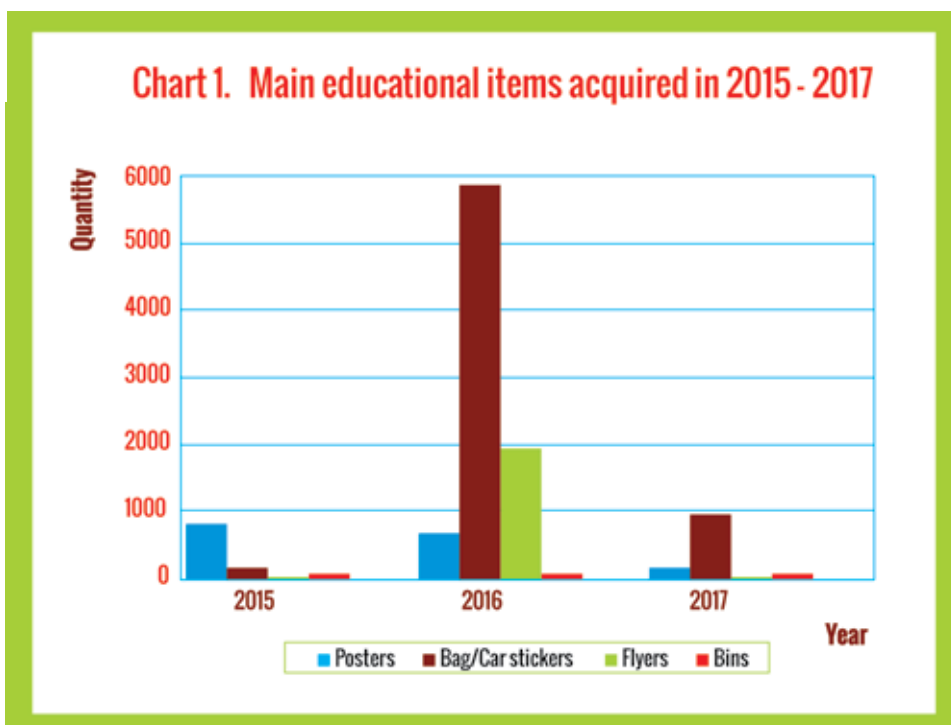

SHAPE Attitude Ghana was invited to give a talk on sanitation at a forum at Gomoa Ohua near Gomoa Dawurampong, off Apam Junction. The forum, which was organised by Radio Peace, Winneba, had the theme "Community Participation in Children's wellbeing." It formed part of series of community activities in collaboration with UNICEF, Radio Peace, Ghana Health Service, School Health Education Programme of the Ghana Education Service, Environmental Health Unit and Chiefs of Gomoa Ohua. The project is using community radio to facilitate community participation in children's wellbeing. A wide range of areas were covered at the forum among them were immunisation, use of impregnated mosquito nets, birth certificates, school going age, teenage pregnancy, breast feeding, regular food for kids, hand washing, countering diarrhoea and open defaecation.

Radio Peace Winneba organised its annual end of year party for children and as usual invited SHAPE Attitude Ghana to give a talk on sanitation to the children.

4. Acquisition of equipment and other materials

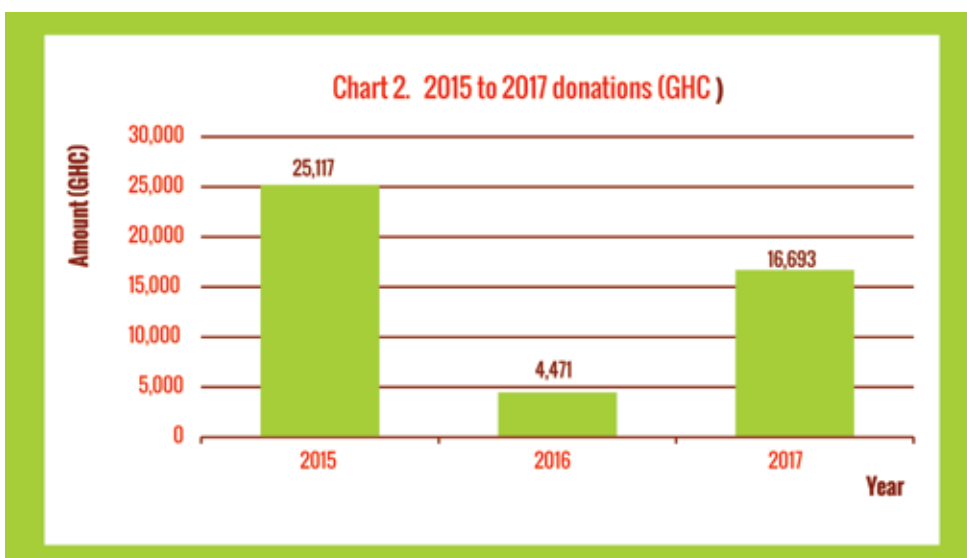

Production of posters and bag stickers dropped in 2017. However, different other types of educational materials such as placards and a banner were produced. For the year under review, 200 posters, 1,000 bag stickers and 33 bins were acquired as against 700 posters, 5,900 bag stickers, 2,000 flyers and 50 bins acquired in 2016 and 859 posters, 200 bag stickers and 79 bins in 2015. There were no t-shirts produced in 2016 and 2017.

The organisation rented a one room office and furnished it in the last quarter of 2017

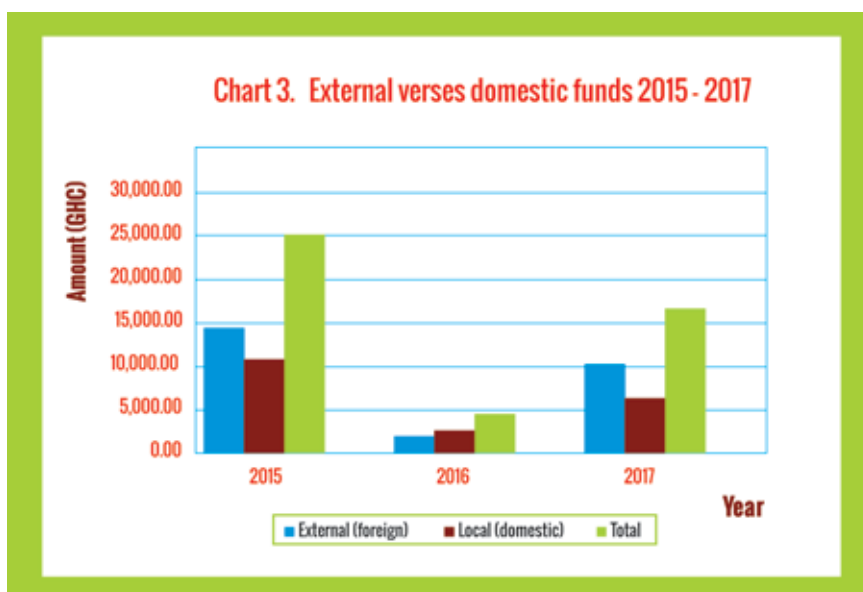

5. Funding

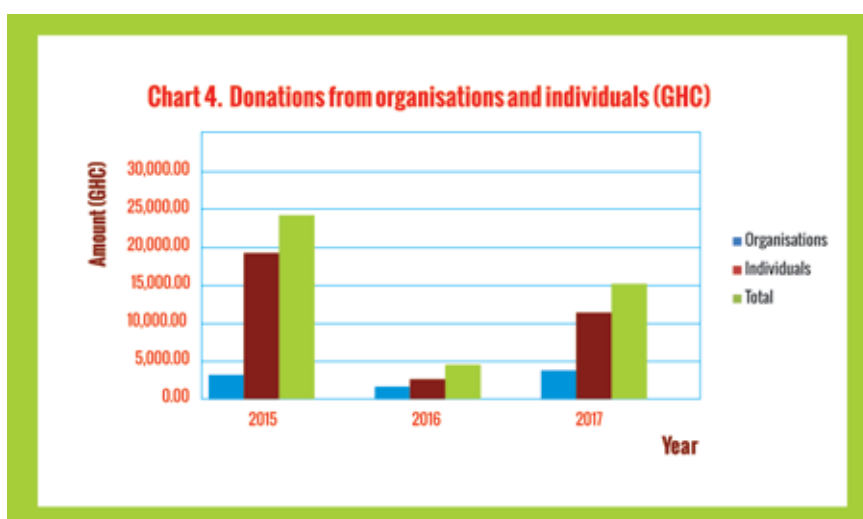

A total of GHC16,692.5 was donated to SHAPE Attitude Ghana in 2017 as compared to GHC4,471 in 2016 and GHC25,117 in 2015. Refer to annex 5 for list of donors in 2017.

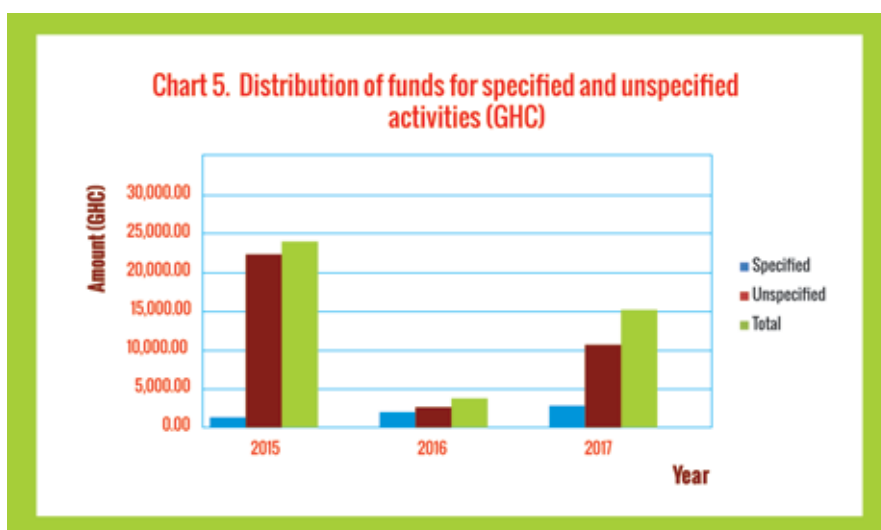

A greater proportion of the 2015 to 2017, fifty-eight per cent, were from external sources, mainly from three individuals. For 2017, sixty two per cent of the funds came from external sources while thirty eight per cent was from domestic source. Refer to chart 3. Without the external support, it would have been difficult to run the project.

Individuals instead of organisations have been the backbone of the organisation with respect to funding. From the domestic sources, only twenty-one per cent came from organisations while seventy-nine per cent came from individuals for the period 2015 to 2017. For 2017, twenty-five percent came from organisations with seventy-five percent from individuals. Refer to figure 4.

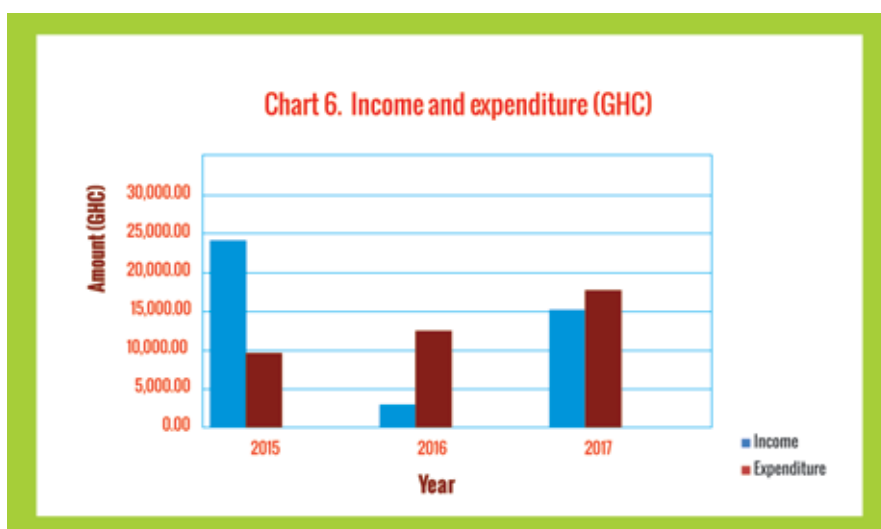

In terms of earmarking, twenty-five per cent of the funds received in 2017 was tied to specific activities with the remaining seventy-five per cent not tied. For the period 2015 to 2017, fifteen per cent was for specified activities and eighty-five per cent for unspecified activities. The 2015 figures were 5 per cent for specified and 95 per cent for unspecified.

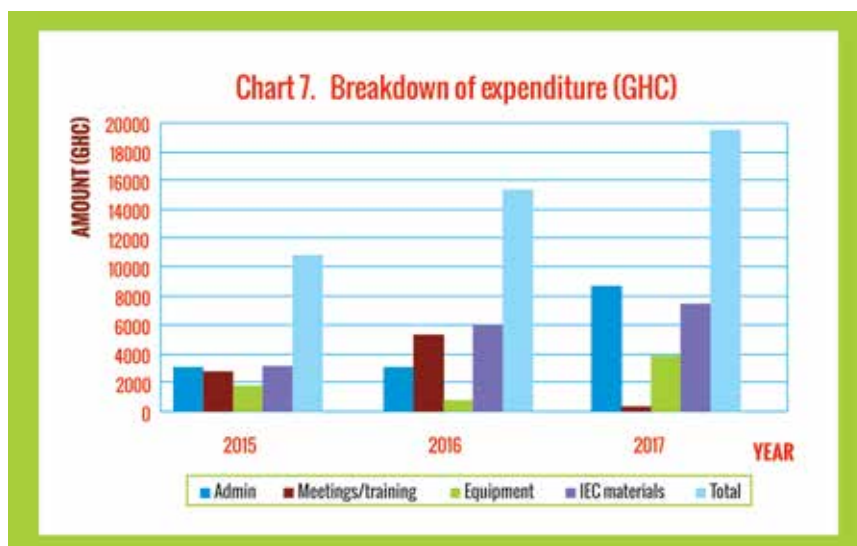

6. Income and expenditure

The total income for 2017 came to GHC20,097.76 including GHC3,405.26 carried over from 2016, while total expenditure was GHC19,826.17, showing a surplus of GHC271.59. The short fall in funding for 2016 activities was covered with surplus from 2015.

Administrative expenses constituted forty per cent of the total expenses in 2017 for two reasons. First, the audit fees of GHC2,115 for 2015 and 2016 were charged in 2017. Second, transportation cost was high due to frequent travel. In fact, the transportation cost for November and December 2017 was not even charged to the project.

7. Challenges

Support from the Effutu Municipal Assembly, not really in monetary terms but mobilising the communities, has not been forthcoming as expected. Consequently, the impact that the project would have made was not realised.

An exceedingly high expectation of some stakeholders wanting to see change in attitude over a rather short period and without it, they tend to lose hope. However, results in attitudinal change cannot be manifested within a year or two unless some drastic measures are adopted which may not be sustainable.

Inadequate material, financial and human resources continue to hamper progress of the project.

Areas that support is needed are educational materials, trophies for awards, meetings and transportation costs. Also needed is collaboration and commitment of certain key stakeholders, especially the Municipal Assembly, to move the project forward.

8. Conclusions

SHAPE Attitude Ghana is all about changing attitudes and mind set of individuals and communities towards environmental cleaners, an objective that will take quite some time to achieve. The success and the time frame to achieve the objective depend largely on political will of the authorities and the support of all other stakeholders.

Inadequate resources have rendered it impossible to undertake a study to measure results of the project but there are indirect indicators which point to the fact that the project is making an impact.

8.1. Educational institutions

- i. There is a decrease in littering on some basic school compounds which is attributed to the intervention of SHAPE Attitude project according to feedback from both pupils and teachers from the schools. Pupils draw the attention of their deviant colleagues or friends to desist from the practice of littering or report them to their teachers.
- ii. Disposal or dumping grounds still pose a challenge to the schools. Dumping sites where the schools have to empty the bins were difficult to find. In situations where the bins have to be emptied by the local authorities, the schools lacked the funds to pay for the service. The local authority, namely the Municipal Assembly, and the schools through the Education Directorate have to put a mechanism in place to ensure that bins are emptied regularly.
- iii. Functioning sanitation clubs in schools can go a long way in making a greater impact with attitudinal change. Unfortunately, Zoomlion Foundation launched such clubs in Winneba, the project site, but did not do any follow up nor provide the resources for their effective operations.
- iv. Competitions among the schools would also help. Individuals and organisations would be mobilised for the needed resources to organise them.

8.2. Religious societies

- i. The contribution of religious societies in changing attitudes and practices of the communities on indiscriminate littering and dumping of refuse cannot be over emphasised. Interaction with some religious heads and their members have all come to the conclusion that the state of sanitation in the country was poor and needed to be addressed through attitudinal change, one of the main causative factors.
- ii. Increased awareness through sensitisation is the way forward to the challenge. The religious societies have to come together and make it one of their priorities among the “moral” and “spiritual” issues they preach about to protect the environment. The associations in the churches have a role to play in this regard.

8.3. Community level

- i. The continued airing of SHAPE Attitude messages by Radio Peace, and their regular programme on sanitation and general concerns from the communities contributed to mounting pressure on the authorities to take remedial measures on collection of rubbish.
- ii. Inadequate infrastructure such as trash bins at vantage points have not helped the cause of reducing littering and indiscriminate dumping. It is a concern of the communities which requires the Municipal Assembly to address.
- iii. Collective responsibility of individuals, households and communities could help change attitudes and practices. Therefore, community sensitisation, surveillance and indeed community sanctions would be helpful. Community leaders and local authorities have a role to play.
- iv. SHAPE Attitude Ghana will continue with the sensitisation drive targeting the young population from three to four years. The hope is that the young will grow up with a mindset for clean environment and give due consideration to waste management. It is also hoped that with time the young would constitute pressure group to demand accountability from the adults for clean environment.

8.4. Municipal level

- i. Much as education and sensitisation is a way of getting the communities to change their attitude and practices towards environmental cleanliness, enforcement of sanitation laws can reinforce the educational messages. The communities share this view strongly in tackling the sanitation problem. The Municipal Assembly has a critical role to play in this and SHAPE Attitude Ghana has taken a step in this direction but the Assembly has not been responsive to the proposal.
- ii. There should be regular and timely collection of waste at the collection points to the dumping site. This is the responsibility of the Assembly and Zoomlion, a waste management company.
- iii. Sorting and recycling of waste should be encouraged but this will require basic infrastructure such as different and adequate bins labelled for the different waste and placed at strategic points in town.
- iv. Collaboration of the Municipal Assembly with SHAPE Attitude Ghana was not encouraging. Even where there was little or no financial implications on the part of the Assembly, they were reluctant to join hands with SHAPE Attitude Ghana. The situation led to loss of financial support which would otherwise have come to support the proposal. The Municipal Assembly has to change its attitude and see SHAPE Attitude Ghana as a partner for a common objective of protecting the environment.
