ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Shape Attitude Ghana would like to acknowledge individuals who have contributed in diverse ways towards its activities in 2016. Mr Andrew K. Asamoah, Executive Chairman of A&C Development Co. Ltd, Accra and also a former Director of World Health Organisation has continued to give his relentless advice and motivation as well as financial support to the project. We thank him for his support.

Our thanks go to the Director of Ghana Education Service, Effutu Municipality, Mrs Hilda Eghan, for not only granting access to the schools for the sensitisation talks but also involving Shape Attitude in their social events for the awareness campaign.

We would like to mention the contribution of Radio Peace and Windy Bay FM stations of Winneba and particularly Atinka Radio and Metro TV stations of Accra for giving the Project a nationwide radio and TV coverage. Thanks to Mrs Ama Woode (Maame Korea) who initiated it. We also thank Madam Esther Ama Nyarkoa of Radio Peace, Winneba and Ms Anna Obir-Bonney a Health Promotion Officer who have been active in the radio campaign.

We thank the following for their diverse contribution: Dr David Essaw, a research fellow and water and sanitation specialist at the Institute for Development Studies, University of Cape Coast, Prof. Kolawole Raheem, Head of SACOST and Prof Mereku, Dean of Students, all of University of Education, Winneba.

The continued support of Mr Amofa Appiah and the staff of Department of Social Welfare Office, Cape Coast in advocacy and linkages role is acknowledged.

Our thanks also go to Mr Moses A. Morgue, President of Akwantufo Welfare Club, Winneba for mobilising support for the project.

We would like to register our appreciation to those who have exhibited the true sense of voluntarism in assisting Shape Attitude Project in disseminating the sensitisation message especially, Mr Lord Nelson Addo Ofori, Mr Eric Sekyere, Mr Kennedy Aboagye and Mr Amos Amamoo all of University of Education, Winneba and Mrs Victoria Amissah Ghartey for her logistic and moral support.

Finally, Shape Attitude Ghana is grateful to all its well-wishers, individuals and organisations, who have supported the project in any form and share the aspirations of the organisation.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Shape Attitude Ghana remained focussed and carried out its activities based on its objective of changing attitudes to ensure clean environment. We made significant strides in reaching out to the target groups with the awareness campaigns.

Visits to schools continued, some to monitor progress after the first visit in 2014 and 2015 and others first time visit.

The University of Education, Winneba invited Shape Attitude Ghana to give sensitisation talks to "freshers" during their orientation week on avoiding indiscriminate littering and dumping of refuse in order to keep their surroundings clean.

The religious organisations were not left out in the campaign. The Council of Churches threw their weight behind the project after Shape Attitude Ghana met with the Council to explain the vision and objectives of the project to them.

Shape Attitude Ghana had a successful sensitisation talk at the Police Command College in Winneba and solicited their support in the awareness campaign and enforcement of bye laws on sanitation

Shape Attitude Ghana has gained recognition and as a result, the organisation was invited to make presentations at meetings of the Ghana Association of Former International Civil Servants (GAFICS) and the Congress of Environmental Health Professionals. It was also invited to participate in two workshops for non-governmental and community based organisations (NGOs/ CBOs).

Coverage of media events reached the national level with radio and TV programmes on stations based in Accra, including activities to mark celebration of the 75th anniversary of the 37 Military Hospital in Accra. Radio Peace station in Winneba continued with its awareness messages on sanitation especially, littering.

The Organisation faces challenges with securing adequate resources (financial, human and material) for implementation of planned activities. In 2016 only GH₵4,471 was secured compared to GH₵25,117 in 2015.

June 2016 marked the second anniversary of Shape Attitude Ghana and it is our hope that the support needed will be obtained to enable the project advance well.

SHAPE ATTITUDE GHANA

ANNUAL REPORT 2016

1. Introduction

In this report, progress of implementation of activities, the associated challenges as well as financial report for the period under review are presented.

The aim of the project still remains to enable the communities develop a culture of keeping their surroundings clean all the time.

The specific objectives are to:

- build a mindset of clean environment;
- develop a sustained habit of maintaining good sanitary conditions;
- promote change in attitude for clean environment;
- contribute to reduction in the incidence of diseases related to dirty environment.

The organisation has stayed focused on its objective of changing attitudes through sensitisation campaigns especially among children.

In terms of achievement of the objectives, no studies have been carried out to assess them. However, feedback from some of the stakeholders, Shape Attitude is making impact in the mindset of people towards littering. Evidence from schools and churches visited attest to this assertion. In some neighbourhoods around the churches and schools, the children are living examples. They practice the skills acquired and sometimes question parents and hawkers about indiscriminate littering.

2. Renewal of registration

The renewal of certificate of recognition of Shape Attitude Ghana as a non-governmental organisation was done in January 2016.

3. Award by the Effutu Traditional Council

The Effutu Traditional Council of Winneba honoured Shape Attitude Ghana with a “Thank You Award” for its contribution to health and sanitation in Winneba.

4. Training and attendance at meetings and workshops

Shape Attitude Ghana was invited to a workshop organised by the Integrity Initiative in May 2016. Participants were given training on running an effective NGO, especially on efficient application of resources and ensuring transparency and accountability.

An invitation was extended to the Director of Shape Attitude Project to attend the Congress of Environmental Health Professionals in August 2016. The Director of Shape Attitude Ghana gave a talk on the role of the Environmental Health Officer in attaining sustainable development goals. He also facilitated a plenary session.

Three personnel of the Organisation attended a training workshop for NGOs/CBOs organised by the Department of Social Welfare, Cape Coast, in September 2016. The training was on running an effective NGO/CBO and ensuring accountability.

5. Implementation of sensitisation and awareness activities

Implementation of activities slowed down largely due to inadequate material and financial resources. Notwithstanding the limited resources, project implementation was sustained and kept alive. The media, especially Radio Peace Winneba, the schools and churches were active in keeping the project alive with sensitisation and awareness messages. There was media coverage at the national level which was also significant in raising awareness.

5.1. Activities in educational institutions

5.1.1. Basic education level (Primary, JHS and SHS)

Sensitisation talks were held in 15 schools. Twelve of them were follow-up visits while three, Methodist B School, Ampah Preparatory and Seventh Day Adventist School was the first visit. The list of schools is contained in annex 2A.

5.1.2. Tertiary level

The Centre for School and Community Science and Technology Studies of the University of Education, Winneba (SACOST/UEW) has been working closely with Shape Attitude Ghana. SACOST engaged the Organisation in all its programmes that related to public awareness on sanitation. The Centre worked together with Shape Attitude in celebrating the World Environmental Day and our 2nd anniversary in June 2016.

Shape Attitude Ghana was invited to give sensitisation talks at three sessions of UEW's orientation for freshers at the beginning of the 2016/2017 academic year.

Work with the students through the Students Representative Council (SRC) and Junior Common Rooms (JCRs) was not encouraging due to difficulties in meeting with the Council's executive.

5.1.3. Police Command and Staff College, Winneba

Officers at the Police Command and Staff College, Winneba, showed keen interest in the activities of Shape Attitude Ghana when the Organisation was granted permission to give sensitisation talk to them. The College promised to work closely with the organisation by engaging themselves in awareness campaigns and clean up exercises.

5.2. Church activities

Eight churches were visited in 2016. Of the eight, four were at the invitation of the churches. In all the churches, demonstrations on littering were held, followed by talks on the consequences and the need to stop indiscriminate littering. Trash bins were donated to the churches at the end of the talk.

The Coast for Christ Ministries, an NGO affiliated to the Baptist Church in Winneba which also operates a hospital for the Sankor community, has committed itself to support and work with Shape Attitude Ghana.

5.3. Media and promotional activities

There was an increase in media coverage on the sensitisation and awareness campaign. Radio Peace based in Winneba continued with its radio sanitation programme and daily messages on littering.

Atinka Radio and Metro TV all based in Accra gave Shape Attitude Ghana air time to give an exposition on stopping indiscriminate littering and dumping of refuse. One of the events was the celebration of 75th Anniversary celebration of the 37 Military Hospital in Accra where the Organisation made a presentation which was covered by Metro TV.

5.4. Other community activities

The management of A&C Development Company offered free space at the A&C Square Mall to Shape Attitude to mount an exhibition on our programmes. It was the first event at the national level.

The Ghana Association of Former International Civil Servants (GAFICS) held its August monthly meeting in Winneba, instead of Accra, for members to familiarise themselves with the project and also show support to Shape Attitude Ghana. The Association made cash donation to the Organisation at the meeting. The Chairman of the Association, Mr Andrew Asamoah, expressed his wish that the project would be successful and be a show piece to other towns in Ghana.

Gracelove Creations, a fashion design company with a number of trainees, invited Shape Attitude Ghana to give a presentation on the project to the trainees.

Shape Attitude Ghana is working with other stakeholders to declare the Winneba lorry station a “litter free zone.” In pursuit of that, several meetings were held with the GPRTU executive at the station.

6. Celebration of events

Shape Attitude Ghana in collaboration with Centre for School and Community Science and Technology Studies of the University of Education, Winneba (SACOST/UEW) planned and implemented activities to mark the World Environmental Day and 2nd anniversary of Shape Attitude Ghana in June 2016.

Radio Peace FM, a community radio station based in Winneba invited Shape Attitude Ghana to give a talk on sanitation at its annual Christmas party for children in December 2016. The party is usually organised for disadvantaged children in and around Winneba. This year, it was children from the Rafiki Orphanage Home and St Annas Children’s Home that were brought together for the party. The Executive Director donated t-shirts to the very young ones at the end of his talk.

7. Acquisition of materials

Shape Attitude Ghana acquired 700 different sizes of posters, 50 trash bins, 5,900 school bag and car stickers, and 2,000 flyers in 2016 compared to 2015 figures of 859 posters, 79 trash bins, 49 t-shirts and 200 car stickers. No t-shirts and flyers were produced in 2015.

8. Resource Mobilisation

Shape Attitude Ghana continued with its resource mobilisation drive by approaching organisations and individuals with formal requests. As part of the efforts, an exhibition was mounted in Accra in the first half of the year. Notwithstanding the efforts made, the result was not encouraging. Only GH₵4,471 in 2016 was donated compared to GH₵25,117 in 2015. Refer to annex 5 for complete list of donors.

CHART 2: Proportion of 2015 and 2016 donations (GH₵)

Of the GH₵4,471 received in 2016, twenty-seven per cent came from organisations and seventy- three per cent from individuals compared to eighteen per cent from organisations and eighty- two per cent from individuals in 2015.

Twenty one per cent of the funds received in 2016 was for specified activities while seventy nine per cent was for unspecified activities which the Organisation can use for any of the planned activities. This compares with 5 per cent for specified and 95 per cent for unspecified in 2015.

9. Income and expenditure

Cash donations received in 2016 came to GH₵4,471 while the expenditure was GH₵15,355.27. The short fall in funding for 2016 activities was covered with surplus from 2015. Expenditure in 2015 was GH₵10,827 whereas the income was GH₵25,117 showing a surplus of GH₵14,289.

10. Challenges

Securing resources, material, financial and human, has been the biggest challenge that Shape Attitude Ghana is facing. Inadequate resources have slowed down progress of implementation. The commitment of a few individuals offering free services has taken the project this far.

Areas that support is needed are educational materials, trophies for awards, meetings and transportation costs. Also needed is collaboration and commitment of certain key stakeholders to move the project forward.

11. Conclusions

Changing the attitudes and mindset of individuals and the communities, which Shape Attitude Ghana is all about, is an objective that will take some time to achieve. However, with commitment of the stakeholders, political will and support of the authorities concerned results can be seen within a relatively shorter period.

Although no specific studies have been undertaken to measure the results of operations over the two years that Shape Attitude Ghana has been in operation, feedback from the field indicates that the project is making an impact.

a. Educational institutions

- i. Both pupils and teachers report of increased awareness and a drop in littering in schools which is attributed to, some extent, the intervention of the project. Pupils draw the attention of their deviant colleagues or friends to desist from the practice of littering or report them to their teachers.
- ii. Emptying of trash bins from school compounds continue to pose a challenge to the schools. In cases where the schools have to empty the bins, dumping site was difficult to find.
- iii. In order to make a greater impact, it requires continuous visits to the schools to monitor progress. School authorities and class leaders or prefects as well as health or sanitation clubs would be useful. Organising competition among the schools would also help but the resources such as the awards and funds to organise the competitions are not readily available.

b. Religious societies

- i. The religious societies recognise that the Shape Attitude project could help in tackling the challenge on indiscriminate littering and dumping of refuse in the communities. This is amply evidenced by invitations by some religious societies for Shape Attitude Ghana to give sensitisation talks in the churches.
- ii. All the religious societies visited consented to the fact that negative attitude was the main cause of littering and believed that addressing the attitudinal challenge could help prevent littering.
- iii. Some members reported that there was some form of general awareness but the question that remains is getting them to change the practice. Therefore, continuous sensitisation was necessary. In this regard, the associations in the churches as well as the leaders have a critical role to play.

c. Community level

- i. There has been improvement in the collection and emptying of rubbish in the buckets or big containers in town but this cannot be said to be due to the intervention of the Shape Attitude project. However, the airing of Shape Attitude messages, the Radio Peace programme on sanitation and general concerns from the communities contributed to mounting pressure on the authorities to take remedial measures.
- ii. Inadequate or lack of infrastructure continued to slow down the efforts in eradicating littering and indiscriminate dumping. This is a concern expressed by the communities and it is the responsibility of the Municipal Assembly to address it.
- iii. Shape Attitude Ghana holds the view that collective responsibility of individuals, households and communities could stop the menace of littering. This calls for developing positive attitude and respect for the environment but somebody has to pull the trigger. The local authorities have a role to play.
- iv. Shape Attitude Ghana will continue with the sensitisation drive targeting the young population. The hope is that the young will grow up with a mindset for clean environment and give due consideration to waste management. With time the young would constitute pressure group to demand accountability from the adults for clean environment.

d. Municipal level

- i. The general population shows concern about the littering problem but the question that still lingers on is the action to take to bring the mess under control. There were several suggestions from the communities to tackle the sanitation problem, among them were recycling of waste, sorting of waste, incinerators for burning, and enforcement of sanitation laws.
- ii. It is important that the Municipal Assembly in collaboration with Town and Country Planning demarcate an area within the Municipality to be used as dumping site. The area when demarcated should be well protected and communicated to all stakeholders. The Municipal Assembly should also explore the possibility of installing a plant to manage the waste so generated.
- iii. The Assembly should intensify the collection of waste at the various points to the dumping site on regular basis.

OUTLOOK FOR 2017

LITTER FREE WINNEBA IN 2017 AGENDA

Shape Attitude Ghana has adopted “Litter free Winneba in 2017” agenda.

The strategies for the litter free agenda will be declaration of litter free areas in Winneba town and competition among schools.

The areas that have been identified are the Central Lorry Station, the University of Education, Winneba Campuses and some selected basic schools.

The most essential stakeholders for the success of the agenda are the Municipal Assembly (assembly men and women), Environmental Health Office, the Ghana Private Road Transport Union (GPRTU), the University community (SRCs and JCRs), the Ghana Education Service and to some extent the police.

The critical activities which were extracted from the master plan and support necessary for achievement of the agenda are as follows:
